I'm thankful for a lot of things in these strange and challenging days. My gratitude in the big picture moves toward federal, state and community leaders in government and public health who seek to guide us to what is best. Frontline workers in medical and care facilities, factories, grocery stores, restaurants, first responders and countless other sectors put their lives on the line for us. I am grateful for them. The list could and should go on and on. You are likely already building a mental list of those for whom you are grateful.

I want to remind us of the gratitude we should have for one another at Knox. My list includes:

- every single one of us who reaches out to care for someone in the fellowship of Knox and among all the people we know and notice in our larger lives
- all of us who remember that ministry continues in and through Knox in substantive ways and give financially to support all that God is doing to the best of our ability as we can
- leaders of ministry and outreach who serve us all, not only with all the normal things but keep looking for new ways we can make a difference inside and outside Knox
- those among us who really struggle in this time and stay the course as best we can with God's help and the help of others
- our facilities staff who have cleaned our building from top to bottom, gone through every nook and cranny to eliminate unneeded items and taken on maintenance items inside and outside the building so everything can be ready for our return whenever that will be
- our Deacons for their wonderful care for all of us in so many areas and in so many ways

- our Elders for their steadfast leadership as they guide us into the uncharted waters regarding how and when we step back in our facility on a regular basis
- the many elements of an expanded presence that Knox now brings electronically to so many people of all ages near and far
- our amazing staff who shoulder service and leadership in dynamic and steadfast ways
- everyone who is not currently serving in the ways we once were in our pre-pandemic life who continue to look for new ways to make a difference
- all who have or will sign up to be part of the "Let's Talk, Knox" conversations about what we value and want for Knox and to let Laura and me spend time with you and you with us
- for everyone who calls Knox home, whether for decades or in these most recent days
- anyone or anything that comes to your mind that I should list in this piece but I haven't

I am most grateful for God who is present in, among and through us as we continue down this path. What a gift to travel together as people who remember to turn our hearts to gratitude every chance we get!

Summer Sermon Theme "Church Re-Discovered"

Sermon on the Mount, Matthew 5-7

The world as we know it is not the way it was meant to be. There is always a tension between the now and not yet, the way things are and the ways things should be.

This is particularly true for us as we move through this summer with the world as it has been, and still is, being shaped by pandemic, economic and societal realities. As we look back on what was real prior to the coronavirus and look at what seems real now, what comes to mind? Are things very different for you or not so very different? Did your things shift like a 7.2 magnitude earthquake or more like a 1.7 tremor? With any shifting and every level of challenge, were you aware that it offered a time to take stock of life in a fresh way?

When Jesus stepped on the scene in Roman-occupied Judea in the 1st Century, he came to point out how warped the world was for his fellow Jews and for all people. His words and actions revealed that their assumptions about life and godliness might have been largely, if not totally, mistaken. That can be true for us, too, whether we recognize it or not.

On a mission of compassionate correction, Jesus began to teach with the hope that they were ready to listen. His teaching wasn't just about information. It was meant to inspire and transform each person. It was meant to bring about God's deepest best for the people of God then and now.

Jesus' words are a hard-hitting manifesto and imploring invitation at the same time. They call us up short and also encourage us to live increasingly in the ways of Jesus. This isn't just a message to individual followers of Jesus. It is a message to the Church of Messiah Jesus world-wide and to us as Knox Presbyterian. This is not an easy message. It challenges every single assumption we've had about what makes a great congregation and about the mission of God in the world.

There's no better time for us as Knox to consider who we are as a congregation and what God is asking of us all. Let's consider, then, what we have right, what we have wrong and how we can be more fully who God calls us to be. Join in as we step up close to Jesus for "Church Re-Discovered."

Knox Thanks Edward Medical Personnel

On Thursday May 20, Knox delivered a catered lunch from Q-BBQ in downtown Naperville to a special group of x-ray technicians at Edward Hospital. We wanted to say thank you to them from Knox and let them know how much we appreciate all their efforts and care during these difficult times. They were so appreciative!

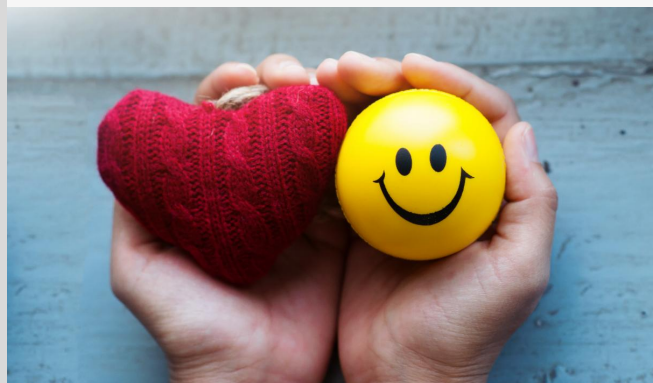

Agape Love

A box has been set up outside of the main doors of Knox. Everyone is welcome to put notes, pictures or little crafts in the box that will be given to various members in our congregation that may need more love right now and something to make them smile.

You can sign your name on them or leave them anonymous.

Let's spread the love of Christ to each other and be God's hands and feet during this time!

Happenings at Knox

Virtual VBS, June 15 - 19 "Jesus' Power Will Pull Us Through!"

Come join with us for a week full of fun, fellowship and learning! Each day will start with our favorite furry friend Chadder the Chipmunk and an introduction with Ms. Ann, who will help introduce the daily theme.

Click the graphic to visit knoxblog.org for the most up to date info for the youth and young adults.

A bag of goodies will be dropped off on the porch for each child participating in VBS which will include the VBS CD, at home craft ideas, snack ideas, and some other VBS goodies that you might need or want for the week.

Each day will consist of videos, activities, game ideas and fun activities to help kids learn that "Jesus' Power will Pull us through." What a great message for us all during this time!
